

ALTRAN – Who we are

The ALTRAN Group was founded in 1982 in Paris and offers consultancy services in the fields of Technology and R&D Consulting, Information Systems Consulting and Strategy and Management Consulting. Our global network comprises more than 100 subsidiary companies in 20 countries, 17,000 employees and 450 major clients.

Since 1997 Altran also operates in Switzerland. In July 2007 six subsidiaries (Berata, Consultran, De Simone & Osswald, Infolearn, Innovatica and Netarchitects) of the ALTRAN Group merged into one company – Altran AG. The newly born company consists of over 250 employees and its branch offices are located in Basel, Fribourg, Geneva, Montreux and Zurich. With competency and professionalism and based on the latest technologies Altran AG offers its clients solutions in order to optimize their business- and/or product processes. Our experts accompany their clients professionally and reliable through all project stages: analysis, conception, configuration and integration, support and further development. Besides the three standard core businesses of the group, Altran AG is also specialized in Corporate Training Solutions.

Your career opportunities

Altran steadily aspires at a healthy growth and is therefore looking for qualified specialists with highly-developed technical skills, university degree or diploma of a higher education establishment.

There are two different job definitions:

As a consulting professional within one of ALTRAN's consulting teams, you will support our clients in their various technological challenges. Dependent on your qualifications, industry exposure, technical know-how and personal interests, as an ALTRAN consultant you can be deployed in all phases of the project lifecycle: from technical and strategic studies, research and development, to the implementation of innovative solutions. Working in varied projects and in different industry environments, you will gain valuable and comprehensive experience. According to your interests, you will be able to develop your skills within your career progression plan, which you will set up together with your Business Manager.

Working within an international company with a strong emphasis on your local market, Business Managers act similar to an entrepreneur within the ALTRAN business model. Together with your local management you define your consulting portfolio, develop and extend your client base and recruit and evolve a team of consultants to work on the projects which you win. As a successful Business Manager, you gain the satisfaction of seeing your business unit grow and of making a key contribution to ALTRAN's growth on the Swiss market.

We do also have opportunities in our support functions, such as finance, auditing, control and human resources.
